The new model Aston Martin DBX 707 is currently the worldâ€™s most powerful ultra luxury SUV.

It produces some 697bhp/707PS (hence its nomenclature) and boasts 900Nm of torque generating a thunderous acceleration of 0-60 mph in just 3.1 seconds and a top speed of 193 mph. With its sports car like performance, superb dynamics and distinctive styling, it is without doubt one of the finest SUV's currently available.

Our example is a 2023 model year, it has a huge specification as standard, however it further benefits from additional factory options totalling over Â£25,000, these options include:

- Inspire sport package: a more luxurious interior trim with sports plus quilted seats, perforated seat inserts, headrests embroidered with Aston Martin wings and matched interior leather colour stitching
