On its launch, the Gallardo LP570-4 Superleggera was the lightest road-going Lamborghini of the range. It shaved some 70kg from the weight of the standard LP560-4 despite sharing the same aluminium body and frame, it achieved this through extensive use of carbon fibre in its aero and interior trim components. Lamborghini themselves classed this car as the sportiest and purist Gallardo ever made.

This particular example was ordered new in the very desirable 3-layer colour Verde Ithaca over a Nero Perseus Alcantara trim. Standard features of the Superleggera included the 6-speed E-Gear (semi-automatic) gearbox, specific Superleggera sport setup, carbon fibre rear diffuser panels along with carbon undertray, carbon rear view mirror housing, lap time function, low rear wing, white gloves and a tyre repair kit. In addition, this car has over Â£22,000 worth of optional extras fitted from new that include: Superleggera rear wing, carbon fibre engine bay trim, interior carbon package that including: carbon fibre to the interior door panels, seat shell, inner dashboard trim, centre gauge clusters, centre console and lower steering wheel trim.
