A very original car that was delivered new in August 1990 to an Italian collector and stayed with that owner until 2012. A â€˜cat carâ€™ that benefits from being a non-adjustable suspension example. Fantastically original throughout with all original factory markings still in place, along with very evident Kevlar weave. The car comes complete with a very well documented history file, original books including its service/warranty booklet, tool kit, tyre canister, original model literature, factory brochures and original exhaust as the car is currently fitted with the better sounding Tubi Style system. It also benefits from being awarded its Red Book Ferrari Classiche certification which confirms the car still retains its original chassis, body, engine and gearbox. Itâ€™s very rare to find such an original example and this car should not be confused with others on the market.
