To mark the final year of the Defenderâ€™s 67 years of continuous production at Land Roverâ€™s Solihull assembly plant, the Landmark Edition was launched to celebrate the end of classic Defender production, representing the highest level of specification ever offered on any classic Defender by Land Rover. The Landmark Edition featured just four exterior colour choices, complemented by a Black Pack, premium leather seating, upgraded audio system with subwoofer and dual finish alloy wheels.

This single-owner, 2016 model year Landmark Edition was specified with a host of options and features, including: premium leather trim, front sports-style seats, air conditioning, heated front seats, upgraded audio package with four speakers, subwoofer, Bluetooth connectivity, heated front windscreen, ebony headlining, Convenience Pack, carpet trim set, side steps, rear side step, roof rack bars and towbar with electrics.
