The Mercedes-Benz SLR McLaren 722 Edition Coupe was a very limited production example of just 150 units worldwide, launched to commemorate Sir Stirling Moss's Mille Miglia victory of 1955 in the Mercedes-Benz 300 SLR, car number 722.

The key features of this very rare and attractive motorcar include an upgraded 5.4-litre V8 engine producing approximately 641 bhp, with a bespoke ECU designed by McLaren MSO. The car's weight was also reduced by some 44 kg, along with a lower ride height and upgraded suspension. Modified bodywork to the front splitter, rear diffuser and front air dam, which are complemented by upgraded 19â€œ lightweight alloy wheels and carbon ceramic brakes. Further exterior enhancements are â€˜722â€™ badging and black tinted headlamps and tail lamps. Finally, interior features included carbon fibre trims, Alcantara to seating, sports steering wheel and â€˜722â€™ badging in red.

Our single owner SLR McLaren 722 Edition was built to GCC specification and commissioned with the following factory
