The Ferrari 599 GTO represents one of the most exhilarating and exclusive road-going Ferraris ever produced, with just 599 examples built worldwide. As the fastest road car Ferrari had ever built at the time of its release, it is powered by a 6.0-litre naturally aspirated V12 derived directly from the Ferrari Enzo, producing 661bhp and delivering a truly visceral driving experience. Lightweight, uncompromising and engineered with a clear focus on performance, the 599 GTO stands as a modern classic and a landmark in Ferrariâ€™s front engined V12 lineage.

Powered by its V12 engine, the 599 GTO was able to lap Ferrariâ€™s Fiorano test circuit in just 1 minute 24 seconds, one second faster than the Ferrari Enzo. Reaching 0â€“62 mph time of just 3.3 seconds and a top speed in excess of 208 mph, it is safe to say the 599 GTO more than delivered. Named after its 5,999cc engine displacement, the 599 GTO had big shoes to fill, being only the third GTO-designated model, following the legendary 250 GTO and 288 GTO.
