The 1953 24 Hours of Le Mans winner.

The only surviving Le Mans winning Works Jaguar and still incredibly retains its original chassis, body and engine.

One of only three Lightweight C-types ever produced and following its Works competition history it was sold by Jaguar to legendary Ecurie Ecosse team before subsequently being purchased by Briggs Cunningham who displayed it in his museum for the next two decades.

Fresh from a full sympathetic refurbishment by Jaguar experts CKL Developments Ltd.

Probably the most important surviving British car.
