The Porsche 911 GT3 (992.2) represents the latest evolution of one of the worldâ€™s most respected performance cars, combining motorsport derived engineering with everyday usability in a package that remains uncompromisingly focused on driver engagement. Refined for 2025, the new GT3 benefits from subtle yet significant aerodynamic, chassis and suspension revisions, resulting in even greater precision and stability both on road and circuit.

Powered by a naturally aspirated 4.0-litre flat-six producing 510hp and paired with Porscheâ€™s lightning fast seven-speed PDK transmission, the GT3 delivers relentless performance, with a top speed of 193mph and 0â€“62mph achieved in just 3.4 seconds. Its razor sharp response and 9,000rpm redline defines the character of Porscheâ€™s most celebrated driverâ€™s car. Enhanced suspension geometry and revised cooling systems further sharpen the experience, whilst the unmistakable rear wing, centre lock wheels and aggressive aerodynamic package reinforce its motorsport pedigree.
