At its heart lies a naturally aspirated V8, producing 400 bhp and delivering a mesmerising soundtrack, particularly with the roof lowered. Power is delivered to the rear wheels through the desirable six-speed gated manual gearbox, providing a mechanical and engaging driving experience that has become increasingly sought after among Ferrari enthusiasts.

This particular Ferrari 360 Spider benefits from Ferrari Classiche certification, providing an important endorsement of its authenticity, originality and provenance.

Established by Ferrari to preserve and protect the heritage of its historic models, the Classiche certification process involves a comprehensive examination carried out by Ferrari's specialist technicians. This includes verification of the chassis, engine, gearbox and other key components against Ferrari's original factory records, alongside an assessment of the car's technical specifications and conformity to its original configuration.
