The 992 GT3 is the latest naturally aspirated model to have been launched by Porsche.

The car signifies everything that a GT3 model stands for, from its bespoke power unit, aerodynamic achievements to its track focussed driveability, this latest variant focuses very much on the engagement of its pure performance and ultimate capabilities.

Performance wise the car is formidable, it produces 503bhp, a 0-62 mph in just 3.4 sec and a top speed of 198 mph. These achievements are attributed to the cars revised aerodynamics with its new rear wing and swan-neck connection for additional downforce, rear diffuser with large slats and a carbon bonnet with integrated air outlets.

This particular example has covered only 951 miles from new. It is a UK supplied example that was commissioned with the incredibly popular paint to sample finish ofÂ Grigio Telesto Metallic and it was ordered new with a host of factory optional
