The SLS was the first Mercedes-Benz to ever be built entirely from the ground up by AMG. It was introduced at the 2009 Frankfurt Motor Show and has since become a multi-award winning design with inspiration clearly echoing from the classic 300SL Gullwing of the 1950's. A hand-built 6.2 litre naturally aspirated V8 engine was installed, with a claimed 0-60mph (0-100kph) time of just 3.7 seconds which is testament as to why it was appointed as the official Formula 1 safety car for the 2010-2012 seasons.

This particular example was ordered by and delivered new to Sebastian, it boasts a fantastic specification with optional extras that include; Magno Matte paint, AMG carbon ceramic braking system with yellow painted brake callipers, sports suspension, Exclusive Nappa leather, AMG interior carbon fibre package, AMG performance steering wheel, Bang & Olufsen surround
