In 2016, Rolls-Royce Motor Cars announced the conclusion of Phantom Coupé and Phantom Drophead Coupé production with the introduction of the Zenith Collection. Conceived as a fitting tribute to the final two-door Phantom models, production was limited to just 50 examples worldwide, comprising only 17 Phantom Coupés and 33 Phantom Drophead Coupés.

At its heart lies Rolls-Royce's magnificent 6.75-litre naturally aspirated V12. Developing 460bhp and paired with an eight-speed ZF automatic transmission, it delivers power with remarkable smoothness and composure, perfectly complementing the Phantom's reputation as one of the world's finest grand touring motor cars. Representing the final chapter of the Phantom VII Coupé, the Zenith Collection occupies a unique position in Rolls-Royce history. Combining extraordinary rarity with exceptional craftsmanship, it remains one of the most exclusive and collectible motor cars produced by Rolls-Royce.
