The CLK DTM AMG is a very special car, only 100 examples of the most desirable coupe version were ever produced, of which very few were right-hand drive. Developed by Mercedes-Benzâ€™s official performance division AMG, the DTM took its name from the eponymous German touring car race series â€“ the Deutsche Tourenwagen Masters â€“ and was built on the platform of the 2nd generation C209 CLK (CoupÃ© Leicht Kurz â€“ CoupÃ© Light Short) that had been introduced in 2002. Whereas the DTM competition cars were limited by the regulations to a normally aspirated 4.0 litre V8 engine producing less than 500bhp, AMGâ€™s road version came with a supercharged 5.4 litre unit pumping out some 582 horsepower and 800 Nm (590 lb/ft). This particular car is one of the very few UK supplied examples, serviced by Mercedes-Benz Brooklands, complete with all its original handbooks and service book and totally immaculate throughout. Arguably the most sought-after modern day Mercedes-Benz produced!
