The 911 Targa 4S Heritage Design Edition is an interpretation paying tribute to the iconic roots of the Porsche models from the 1950s, the legendary 356 and the first generation 911 of the 1960s.

In the 1950s red was the favoured colour of choice for sports cars, therefore it was only fitting that Porsche opted for Cherry Metallic as their first colour option to harmonise the silver finish of the Targa bar and gold coloured logos. Interior finishes and fabrics also evoke memories of the past, with Corduroy being Porscheâ€™s chosen material for the seating inserts and door panels, enhanced with Atacama Beige for the main interior colour. Additional exterior details include the original 1963 356 Crest and a special Porsche Heritage badge, front wings have a high-quality white film wrap that echoes the â€˜spearsâ€™ paint finish from 50s motorsport. Additional interior features include the 1963 356 crest to the headrests and steering wheel, the instrument binnacle combines modern elements with classic touches, such as the analogue rev counter and green scale markings that first appeared in the Porsche 356.
